Thank you for surrendering your dog or cat to the shelter. It is the most responsible thing you can do when you are no longer able to care for your pet.

The directors, staff and volunteers of the Franklin Animal Shelter will work to create the best possible outcome for your pet by trying to match it with a loving new family. This is our primary mission.

It is important for you to know that by surrendering your pet to the Shelter, you have relinquished all rights to your pet and have transferred ownership of it. All future decisions about the disposition of your pet will be in the hands of the Shelter management.

This also means that you will also have no rights to any knowledge regarding the disposition of your pet, other than that information known to the general public through our website and social media postings.

It is important for you to understand that many of the animals that come to the Shelter are never posted on our website. This is because we often find placements for the animals quickly and do not need to advertise them. Therefore, you may not see your surrendered pet on our website. Failure to post your pet on our website does not imply an unfavorable outcome.

Again, thank you for making the responsible decision regarding your pet.
